ASSOCIATED GENERAL CONTRACTORS OF NH NAMES KENNETH R. RHODES, P.E. AS CHAIRMAN OF THE ENVIRONMENTAL COMMITTEE

MANCHESTER, NH — Mr. Rhodes, Senior Vice President of CLD with 30 years of experience in engineering, has been involved in numerous planning and site development projects, all of which included coordination of information and thorough review. Through years of assisting projects during the regulatory process, exposure to regulatory personnel and the process they manage, he has developed excellent working relationships streamlining the development process and has the honor of being named Chairman to the Environmental Committee of the Associated General Contractors of NH, and Annual position picked directly by the AGC of NH President. In this capacity, Mr. Rhodes will help guide this committee working with environmental laws, rules, and regulations that affect the commercial construction industry. This committee is a mix of highway contractors, aggregate suppliers, environmental consultants, and legal consultants. In addition to working on legislation, they are also involved in lobbying efforts reviewing legislation and proposing amendments and also work closely with DES on rule changes.
